Zaalouk Beans with a Pistachio Tofu Crumb

★ 4.5 13 Notes 45 mins cook

A rich and creamy butter bean stew inspired by Moroccan zaalouk, with smoky charred tomatoes and aubergines and a nutty tofu crumb. It's healthy, plant-based and full of flavour.

Sophie Waplington

+ Add to planner

1	Garlic Bulb
3	Aubergines
6	Tomatoes
80 g	Cashews
1	Red Onion
2 tsp	Ground Cumin
2 tsp	Smoked Paprika
1 tsp	Ground Coriander
2 570g Jars	Cooked Queen Butter Beans
2 tbsp	Tomato Purée
200 g	Firm Tofu
80 g	Shelled Pistachios
80 g	Silken Tofu
4 tbsp	Nutritional Yeast
1	Lemon
Handful	Fresh Parsley
	Olive Oil
To serve	Pomegranate Molasses

Chef Give feedback

Sophie Waplington

Soph (@sophsplantkitchen) is a personal trainer and plant-based recipe developer, specialising in high-protein, high-fibre, wholefood recipes to help support healthy, active lifestyles. Her mission is to redefine 'fitness food' by adding more deliciousness into your diet, instead of taking it away.

View Chef profile

Step 1.

Heat your oven to 220°C.

Step 2.

Cut the top off the garlic bulb and add it to a baking tray along with the whole aubergines and tomatoes. Prick the aubergines with a fork then rub everything with olive oil and salt and place in the oven to roast for 35 mins, until the aubergines and tomatoes are collapsing and the skins are a little charred in places.

Step 3.

Meanwhile, soak the cashews in boiling water for 10 mins then drain and set aside.

Step 4.

Chop the red onion very finely. Heat a splash of olive oil in a medium pan set over a medium heat. Add the red onion and a pinch of salt and cook for 6 mins until softened. Add the spices and cook for a further 2 mins until fragrant. Add the tomato purée and the butter beans with most of their jarred liquid. Bring to a simmer and leave to gently cook on a low heat while the aubergines and tomatoes are roasting.

Step 5.

Remove the roasted veggies from the oven and leave for 5-10 mins to cool slightly. Roughly chop the aubergines and tomatoes and add to a bowl. Squeeze in the garlic flesh from the bulb and squish it down with a fork. Season the veggies with salt and pepper then add to the bean mix and stir well to combine. Add a splash of water if it's dry.

Step 6.

For the tofu crumb, add a glug of olive oil to a large frying pan. Crumble in the tofu, chop and add the pistachios, and season with a pinch of salt. Set over a medium heat and cook for 7-8 mins until browned and crispy. Season with more salt to taste.

Step 7.

Blitz the silken tofu, nutritional yeast and drained soaked cashews in a blender and season to taste with salt and lemon juice.

Step 8.

To serve, divide the beans between bowls then top with the cream and nutty tofu crumb. Finish with a few fresh parsley leaves, black pepper and a little drizzle of pomegranate molasses, if you like.