275 g	Sushi Rice
4 x 140g Fillets	Cod
200 g	Mixed Mushrooms
60 g	Butter
3 tbsp	White Miso
1 tbsp	Mirin
350 ml	Mushroom Stock
	Olive Oil

FOR THE SPRING ONION SLAW:

5	Spring Onions
2 tsp	Toasted Sesame Seeds
1 tsp	Toasted Sesame Oil

Chef Tips Give feedback

Chloe René

Chloe (@chlo_eat) takes inspiration from her diverse upbringing to create recipes and dishes influenced from cultures around the world. Despite her classical training, Chloe's philosophy in the kitchen revolves around simplicity and home-cooking. She firmly believes that the essence of a great meal lies in the quality of ingredients and the care put into their preparation. Instead of relying on complex and technical processes, Chloe prizes the art of letting ingredients shine through, enhancing their natural flavours with a delicate touch.

View Chef profile

Step 1.

Make sure your butter is at room temperature. Prep your ingredients: Wash the rice until the water runs clear, then place into a bowl, cover with water and leave to soak. Season the cod with salt and pepper then place onto kitchen paper. Finely slice or tear the mushrooms into 1cm chunks. Stir the softened butter, miso and mirin together in a bowl and set aside.

Step 2.

Place a frying pan (with a lid) onto medium-high heat with a generous drizzle of olive oil. Once hot, add the mushrooms and cook for 10-15 mins until browned, stirring only a couple of times. Transfer the mushrooms to a plate. Don’t wash the pan.

Step 3.

Drain the rice then tip it into the empty frying pan. Set over a high heat and pour over the stock. Bring the mixture to the boil then place the lid on and turn the heat down to low. Leave to cook for 12 mins.

Step 4.

When the rice cooking time is up, pat the cod dry and place the fillets on top of the rice. Spread the miso butter onto the fish then cover with a lid and cook for another 10 mins.

Step 5.

Meanwhile, heat the grill to high. Trim and cut the spring onions into thirds then thinly slice lengthwise and place into a bowl of ice water until curly.

Step 6.

When the fish cooking time is up, remove the lid and scatter the crispy mushrooms onto the rice. Slide the pan under the grill for 3-4 mins until the miso butter has started to colour and the fish is fully cooked through.

Step 7.

Drain the spring onions and toss with the sesame seeds and oil in a small bowl. Fluff the rice using a fork and spoon into bowls. Top with the fish and spring onion slaw.

Did you like this recipe?

Leave a note

Tell us what you think...

Notes (33)

. . 7 months ago

wow so tasty my son loved it too!

0 Reply